

1 Jun 2004

Changi Airport Scores Well With Middle East Travellers

Readers of Business Traveller (Middle East) magazine gave Changi Airport the thumbs up for being the Best Airport in the World. The Civil Aviation Authority of Singapore (CAAS) was presented the award in Dubai on 5 May 2004.

"Changi Airport thanks the respondents of the survey for their support and recognition. The credit goes to the many airport workers, both at the frontline and in backroom, who have worked tirelessly to deliver a memorable 'Changi experience' to the millions of passengers who use the airport. It is this 'can-do' spirit of all our airport staff that will see Changi Airport overcome the challenges ahead," said Mr Wong Woon Liong, Director-General of Civil Aviation, CAAS.